

INCOGNITO

The Pursuit of Impressive Vocabulary

Mark Your Calendar

Tuesday, April 9, 2019 (Rain date: Thursday, April 11)

5:30 - 7:00 p.m. at North Knox Intermediate

Words have power. They matter. It was novelist and playwright Edward Bulwer-Lytton who wrote, "The pen is mightier than the sword." It's so true. In fact, some of the most influential leaders in all of history used words to change the world. Just think of our Founding Fathers or Martin Luther King, Jr.

Acquiring an extensive vocabulary enables a person to increase his or her ability to communicate effectively. This skill creates opportunities in all areas of life, no matter what the task, goal, or occupation.

Please join us as we celebrate literacy, strengthen our vocabulary, and remind ourselves of the power of words.

- Complete literacy missions that involve cracking codes and problem solving.
- Participate in a photo opportunity with a character of espionage.
- Visit the book fair.
- Enjoy a hot dog provided by Aramark.
- Feel free to come dressed in "secret agent" attire.

Families with children of all ages are welcome. Mission activities have been created for families to complete together. After participating in the activities, every student can select a book to add to his/her home library. We have books for all ages—preschool through high school. Alternative activities will be available for those second grade and younger.

Be on the lookout for more information. Registration forms will be coming home with students soon!

Books and materials for this event are being purchased through a grant from the Duke Energy Foundation.
