

Reading to the Rescue

North Knox Intermediate—Family Literacy Celebration

The theme for the evening is:

Please join us on Tuesday, April 18, 2017

5:30 p.m. - 7:00 p.m. (Rain dates: April 19th, April 20th)

In the fall, we held our Super Reader Training Camp. This spring, participants will become official super readers and be empowered to begin their own superhero story—using their skills to better the world.

As always, this is a family event, so siblings of NKI students are welcome to attend. Families are encouraged to participate together. All are welcome to come dressed in superhero attire and to bring a device for photo opportunities. In particular, a superhero/super-reader cape, even if homemade, would complement our photo ops.

- Upon arrival, each student may select a superhero mask and a 4-pack of Crayolas to help them with activities.
- After students, along with their families, complete the reading-based activities, they will be awarded a customizable superhero official ID card. And, of course, select a book to take home.
- Once reading tasks have been completed, students may participate in physical tasks as well.
- Participants may also:
 - visit our photo ops.
 - visit our book fair.
 - enjoy hot dogs, sponsored by our PTO.

Again, be ready to let those reading capes fly. This looks like a job for . . . North Knox Intermediate!

Books and Materials
MADE POSSIBLE THROUGH A GRANT FROM
The Duke Energy Found